JAMIE S. PATRICK

Chief Financial Officer
Boeing NeXt
Enterprise Finance Services

Jamie Patrick is the chief financial officer for Boeing NeXt, a business division building the ecosystem that will define the future of urban, regional and global mobility. She is responsible for helping identify, shape and execute organic and inorganic strategies for growth in the future mobility market.

Patrick manages the research and development investment portfolio, identifies and mitigates business risks, partners to capture new business and capitalizes on bringing new business opportunities to fruition for Boeing. She leads a diverse team of value integrators who develop estimates, lead proposal negotiations, create operating plans and monthly financial forecasts, and manage cost and schedule performance.

Since first joining Boeing Commercial Airplanes in 2003, Patrick has held various positions in finance. Previously, she served as the chief financial officer in Boeing Defense, Space & Security for the F-15 production programs.

Patrick holds a Bachelor of Science in business administration with a minor in communications from the University of Kansas. She also earned a Master of Science in quality systems management from the National Graduate School and an executive master's in international business from Saint Louis University.
