

Welliver Faculty Fellowship 2010

Professors are key to developing new aerospace talent

"The Welliver Faculty Fellowship ranks as the best professional experience of my career."

Daniel R. Kirk, 2009 Fellow
Florida Institute of Technology

"This memorable experience has truly impacted my paradigm on how to properly prepare students for aerospace careers in corporate America."

Diedre Paris-Michael, 2009 Fellow
Tuskegee University

Shadow Boeing engineers, technologists, and professionals to gain access to Boeing technical and business programs at various company locations.

Bring your expertise to the aerospace industry—observe and suggest how Boeing can make improvements.

Build a network of faculty and industry professionals to develop future cooperative opportunities and joint research and development projects.

Program information

U.S. and non-U.S. faculty welcome
Eight week program: June 14 - Aug. 6, 2010

Application available: Oct. 14, 2009

Deadline: Dec. 31, 2009

- Associate or tenured professors
- Minimum 5 years full-time teaching
- Currently teaching undergraduates

Applications, compensation and program information now available at:
<http://www.boeing.com/facultyfellowship>

Preferred disciplines are in business, engineering, supply chain, information technology and manufacturing. Fellows are chosen through a competitive selection process. Visit the web site for more detailed program information and application forms.

Boeing is an equal opportunity employer. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply.