Defense, Space & Security

Overview

Defense, Space & Security is one of The Boeing Company's [NYSE:BA] three business units. The world's second-largest defense company, employing about 35,000 worldwide, the business' strategy is to help customers to meet mission requirements from the sea bed to outer space, and to lead in six key markets: Commercial Derivatives, Military Rotorcraft, Human Space Exploration, Satellites, Autonomous Systems and Services. Its organization structure reflects this strategy through its eight divisions:

- Autonomous Systems – Develops and produces remotely piloted aircraft and submersibles. Manages Boeing's Insitu subsidiary.
- Commercial Derivative Aircraft – Develops products for military and government customers globally based on proven commercial platforms including Boeing's world-class 7-series aircraft.
- Global Operations – Leads Defense, Space & Security's international subsidiaries (Boeing Defence Australia, Boeing Defence India, Boeing Defense Saudi Arabia, Boeing Defence United Kingdom), seeks opportunities for additional global growth.
- Missile and Weapon Systems – Manages Boeing's portfolio of strategic missile and defense systems and weapons systems.
- Phantom Works – Creates and advances new products and capabilities by drawing on its expertise in innovation, advanced experimentation and prototyping.
- Space and Launch – The world's largest satellite manufacturer also offering other space and intelligence systems. The division houses Boeing's more than 60 years of space exploration expertise and manages Boeing's share of United Launch Alliance and United Space Alliance.
- Strike, Surveillance and Mobility – Manages Boeing's current and future portfolio of fixed-wing military and surveillance aircraft, including fighters and commercial derivative platforms, and support of key platforms such as the executive transport fleet, which includes Air Force One.
- Vertical Lift – The world's largest provider of military rotorcraft with a diverse portfolio of cargo, tiltrotor and attack platforms.

Led by President and CEO Leanne Caret, the business is based in Arlington, Va.
