

EPIC FUELS

Award: Sustainability

Demonstrating leadership, outstanding performance or successful partnerships in a formal, measurable sustainability program and culture of sustainable leadership.

Q: What does it mean to be recognized as a Supplier of the Year?

A: When EPIC launched our Sustainable Aviation Fuel (SAF) program in 2012, SAF was virtually unknown. This recognition as Boeing's Supplier of the Year for Sustainability, over a decade later, is a testament to the dedication of our team and our collaborative partners, including Boeing. We are deeply honored to receive this award!

Q: How did your company get started?
A: EPIC Fuels traces its roots back to 1940 when we opened our doors as Valley Oil, a heating oil distributor in Salem, Oregon. Over the past four decades, we have been dedicated to supplying aviation fuels. In 2018, we were acquired by BBA Aviation (now known as Signature Aviation).

Q: What should people know about your company?
A: The three EPIC employees that collaborate most closely with Boeing have been with our organization for a combined 86 years!
Q: How do you inspire your employees?
A: We listen and build relationships with one another through open and transparent conversations. Acting with integrity allows us to lead with trust – a core value at the center of our business.

Q: What characteristics do you most credit for your Supplier of the Year achievement?
A: Our risk management/quality control team has played a pivotal role in driving the adoption of SAF by spearheading several industry-first projects. Their unwavering curiosity, creative thinking, and relentless hard work have been instrumental in making our SAF program the resounding success it is today.

Q: What is your company vision/mission?
A: Signature Aviation's vision is to lead private aviation towards achieving net-zero carbon emissions by 2050. As an organization, we've set ambitious emissions reduction targets, and we take pride in delivering tangible, quantifiable progress.

Q: How does your company exemplify excellence?
A: In the aviation fuel supply world, most transactions are very straightforward. At EPIC, we exemplify excellence through our willingness to step outside the conventional boundaries of our industry and engage in projects that demand a high degree of complexity. We take pride in going the extra mile to assist our customers with groundbreaking projects.
